Abstract: This article deals with the speech act used in communication which is happen in Death Ceremony "Sayur Matua" of Simalungun culture. This study tried to find out the speech act that occur during the communication among the speakers of four main group of participant that must come in the Death Ceremony "Sayur Matua". They are the speaker of ceremony owner/woman's taker (suatu), the speaker of woman giver (tondang), Speaker of Pargondrang (Batak Traditional Drummer) and the speaker of villager (dongan sahuta/sa sarikat) in Simalungunese Death Ceremony “Sayur Matua”. The research methodology used in this study is qualitative approach. The writer uses speech act theory by searly to analyze the data. The data is taken from 3 stage of ceremony conversation in Simalungunese Burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”. First, Mangindo podah pakon marporsa (ask a piece of advice from the woman giver side). Second, Marsatti Gandrang (To start the Gondrang/Batak traditional drum). And the third, Martonggo raja (Discuss with the villager). To get the data, the writer records the utterances occurs in the ceremony by speaker of four main group of participants. To get data, the writer writes what he sees, hears and records from the speech acts of Simalungun society that found on the Death Ceremony “Sayur Matua”. Finally, based on the findings, the writer concludes all types of speech act speech act that occur during the communication among the speakers of four main group of participant that must come in the Death Ceremony “Sayur Matua”, they are illocutionary act 36.507 % followed by locutionary act 34.126 % and Perlocutionary Act 29.365 %, while the classification of the speech act found as Assertive (23.913 %), Directive (50%), Commissive (4,347%), Declarative (2,173 %), Expression (19,565 %).

I. INTRODUCTION

This research is the study on the speech acts in Simalungunese Burial Ceremony. The purpose of the current paper is to find out the kind and classification of the speech act used by the Simalungunese in the context of Burial Ceremony communication at Tigadiolok, Simalungun Regency, North Sumatera, Indonesia. There are some reason why this research is necessary to be done. First, the need of documentation for English department of Teacher Training Faculty Nommensen HKBP University Pematangsiantar. It is also can be useful for the needs practical and scientific uses in future. The second is to investigate the speech acts used by the Simalungunese in Burial Ceremony Communication.
The findings of the preliminary research of this study shows that the people of Simalungun used to use Directives as their way to express their intention. It means that the Simalungunese speech act dominated by giving command or instruction, as described in Searle’s (1979) about Locutionary act, illocutionary act, Perlocutionary act and the classification of it such as Assertive, Directive, Commisive, Declarative, and Expression.

To analyze the speech acts used by them, the writer formulate the researach probem by the following question:
1. What Locutionary acts, Illocutionary acts, and Perlocutionary acts are used by the Simalungun society in communication of the Burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”?
2. What are the classification of Speech acts used by the Simalungun society in communication of the Burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”?

II. THEORETICAL REVIEW

2.1. Speech Acts

Speech means sound or sentences and acts means way or manner. Speech act means characteristically performed in the utterances of sound that means what one is doing in saying something or in other meaning, participants do not speak only but do an action (Searle, 1971: 39-43). Speech acts are familiar in feature of daily life that we rarely pause to define it. The speaker need to know the society of language, so that the speaker knows to act efficiently together it other people, to create and maintain social relationships with the cooperative and politeness principle. To talk about speech act are three notion that should be known. They are rules, proposition and meaning.

Rules mean knowing the meaning of the word> BY knowing the meaning of word, we can use the word according to the context. If the meaning is a matter of rules of use, surely we ought to be able to state the rules for the use of expression. Proposition mean the comprehending between the subject and the predicate, that is bound by a function. Consider utterances of the following sentences:
Example (18):
1. Will Erna send the letter?
2. Erna will send the letter
3. Erna, send the letter
4. Would that Erna send the letter
5. If Erna will send the letter, I will also.

Utterance or sentence has different illocutionary acts. 1 is a Question, 2 is an assertion, 3 is request or order, 4 is an expression, and 5 is expression of intention.

Meaning means that sounds or marks have meaning. In other words the speaker when communicate should have a meaning, so the hearer can understand what he/she is talking, it means in speaking a language that speaker attempts to communicate things to the hearer to recognize the speaker intention to communicate just those things.
2.2. Relevant Theories

2.2.1. Fishman Theory

This theory explains the action of language in interaction in macro and micro function. As macro, this theory studies or deals with the rule of society and cultural from the norm of communication, where as micro deals with who speak, what language, to whom, where and when. In other words, the interpretation of micro context will give the explanation about aspects of macro language.

Example (19):
1. Erna : Hello, Dina
2. Dina : Hello, where did you go yesterday?
3. Erna : Oh I went to swimming pool yesterday. How about you?
4. Dina : It’s a bad day. I’ve headache and just stay at home

Now we can analyze the example above, as follows:

Who speak to whom : Erna-Dina (student-student)
(girls about 14 years old)
What language : about went to swimming pool
When : in the morning
Where : at school

2.2.2. Hymes Theory

This theory is a theory that gives the structure of speech acts. According to Hymes, there are components of speech act, this theory used as base from to give structure of context. Furthermore, this theory can be clearer in the theory applied. Hymes theory popular with Ethnography which has to goal to notice that language, meaning, using structure of speech or genre and the function of language inclining arranged by the norms of socio-cultural used in peer of using language.

2.2.3. Grice Theory

To communicate means to negotiate. In Grice principle, we will find two important things that are related to speaking or communication. They are implicature and maxim theory. The implicature theories are as follows:

1. Make your contribution more informative as required
2. Do not make your contribution informative than is required
3. Do not say what you believe to be false
4. Do not say that for which lack adequate evidence

Based on implicature theory, Grice talks maxim theory. There are four categories of maxim. They are as follows:

1. Quantity, give the right amount of information
2. Quality, try to make your contribution one that is true.
3. Relation, be relevant
4. Manner, be perspicuous
2.2.4. Searle Theory

Firstly, speech act was studied by Austin, then continued by Searle but their theories have a little bit different. Austin emphasizes how to act in the words that the participant says, while Searle studied about the result of the action.

There three points of view based on meaning in communication, they are:
1. Locution act is which involves an utterance as a proposition consist of subject (topic) and predicate.

Example (20):
1a. Erna: Hello, Dina
    Dina: Hello

   Locution act is Erna greets Dina by saying, “Hello, Dina”

2. Illocution act is which involves utterances as language act such as request, command, ask, promise, announce, etc. it has close relationship of sentence form.

Example (21):
2a. Rani: Siska, kamu mau ke mana?
    b. Tika: Ke UD Maria beli pulpen
    c. Rani: Boleh aku ikut?

   Illocution act is 2a. asking information, 2b. Giving information, 2c. Command.

3. Perlocution act is as effect or result by utterance to listener,

Example (22):
3a. Rikky: Banyak kali kamu beli pulpen?
    b. Toni: iya, yang satu ini untuk kamu.

   Perlocution act : 3b gives one his pen to 3a.

According to Searle, there is illocutionary act function. Illocution act is the central part of other parts. (form and perlocution). The illocution act has some function, they are: competitive, collaborative and conflictive. In competitive, the aim of illocution competes to the social aim, (command ask, demand, beg).

Example (23): He asks me persuade you

   In convivial, the aim of illocution is same with the social aim (offer, persuade, invite, greet, say thanks and congratulate).

Example (24): thanks for your help.

   In collaborative, the aim of illocution is contrast with the social aim. (state, teach, report and announce).

Example (25): tomorrow, everybody should wear black shirt.

   In conflictive, the aim of illocution is opposite with the social aim. (force).

Example (26): He forces me to do what he wants.

2.2.4.1 The Classification of Speech Act

Although speech act theorists have proposed these three general types of speech acts, they are primarily interested in speaker intentions: the illocutionary force of utterances. To study this facet of human communication, various types of speech acts have been proposed. Below are five described in Searle’s (1979) seminal book on speech acts:

1. Assertives/Representatives: utterances reporting statements of fact verifiable as true or false.
   Example:  I’m good enough for the job
   She is a good woman

2. Directives : Utterances intended to get someone to do something.
   Example:  Come here!
   Come and sit here!

3. Commissives : Utterances committing one to doing something.
   Example:  I promise to pick you up later
   I will call you tomorrow

4. Declaration : Utterances bringing about a change in the state of affairs.
   Examples:  I pronounce you husband and wife!
   I hereby sentence you to 5 years in jail!

5. Expressives : Utterances expressing speaker’s attitude.
   Examples:  what a beautiful rainbow!
   I’m really sorry for being so late.

Based on the 4 relevant theories, the writer uses the theory of Searly which discussing about the locutionary act, illocutionary act and perlocutionary act and the classification of speech act.

III. RESEARCH METHOD

3.1 Research Design
This research will be carried out by applying qualitative research, because the data will be collected in the form of words or sentences. The writer will analyze the conversation among the protocol with everyone who get involve in the death ceremony.

3.2 Research Object
The object of the research is the speech act of Simalungun society in the Burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”. The object means the data, which are taken from the speech community.

3.3 Research Subject
The subject of this research is the participants (Simalungun society) especially the speaker of four main group of participants in the Burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”, they are the speaker of ceremony owner/woman’s taker (suhut), the speaker of woman giver (tondong), Speaker of Pargondrang (Batak Traditional Drummer) and the speaker of villager (dongan sahuta/sa sarikkat) at Tiga Dolok, Simalungun Regency.
3.4 Research Instrument
The way of collecting data for research data, the writer observes the real communication in the Death Ceremony “Sayur Matua” of Simalungun culture. The instruments of the data collection are paper, pen and tape recorder. The writer wrote and recorded what the writer sees, what the writer hears and feels in the conversation of the participants.

3.5 Technique of Collecting Data
The steps in collecting data will be carried out with two activities.
1. The researcher records the real speech act by all participant in the ceremony focus on the 4 steps of doing the burial ceremony as stated in chapter II.
2. Secondly, transcript the speech act of the participant
3. Rechecking the transcript by rewaching the video of the burial ceremony.
4. Selecting the data
5. Classifying the data
6. Analyzing and interpreting

3.6 Technique of Analyzing Data
After thoroughly classifying the conversation that had speech act based on the utterance, it was followed by classifying types of speech act that occurred in step of burial ceremony conversation. Furthermore, the writer makes a table to record the results of the classifying, as the following below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Utterance</th>
<th>Locutionary act</th>
<th>Illocutionary act</th>
<th>Perlocutionary act</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

As : Assertive   Cm : Commissive   Ex : Expressive
Dr : Directive   Dc : Declarative

For the analysis the writer take the utterances in every steps of burial ceremony conversation. He takes the conversation between the protocol of the burial ceremony with all the people who get involve. He will analyze the data using speech act theory by Searle that have explained in previous chapter. Then, he will analyze what is locutionary act, illocutionary act, and perlocutionary act that occur in the conversation. Furthermore, he puts the results of her data analysis on a table. Then the writer classify based on the classification of the speech act as in the table below:

4.3 Interpretation

After analyzing the finding of the data, we have knew how Simalungun society use their language, how they communicate one to another in the burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua”. In this case, the writer will tries to make interpretation about it.

Based on Searle’s theory, the speech act used in communication by the people of Simalungun especially in burial Ceremony “Sayur Matua” shows that the Simalungunese are mostly use illocutionary act 36.507 % followed by locutionary act 34.126 % and Perlocutionary Act 29.365 %.

In kind of the classification of speech act the writer found out: Assertive (23.913 %), Directive (50%), Commissive (4.347%), Declarative (2.173 %), Expression (19.565 %). It’s mean that the people of Simalungun are dominated by directive (utterance intended to get someone to do something) in their communication especially in burial ceremony “Sayur Matua”, then followed by assertive (utterances reporting statements of fact veryfiablea as true or false), expression (utterances expressing speaker attitude), Commissive (utterance committing on to do something), and closed by declarative (utterances about bringing a change in the state of affairs). And for the perlocutionary act, the utterances may have effect and may have no effect, but mostly dominated by showing efect. It can be seen when a speaker intended someone to do something, directly responds it by doing an action.
V. CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the findings as stated in chapter four, the writer find out that all types of speech act occurs in the communication among the speakers of four main group of participant that must come in the burial Ceremony "Sayur Matua". They are the speaker of ceremony owner/woman's taker (suhut), the speaker of woman giver (tondong), Speaker of Pargondrang (Batak Traditional Drummer) and the speaker of villager (dongan sabata/sa sarikat).

In this study, the illocutionary act are mostly used by the the speakers to address his/her intention. The classification of speech act, directive (50%) and assertive (23,9%) are mostly used in the utterances that occurs during the conversation done by the speaker of three main groups of participants. The speaker of woman giver (tondong) mostly used command and giving advices to do something good. The speaker of the ceremony owner mostly used asking clarity, information and advices what to be done in the death ceremony. Then, the speaker of pargondrang mostly used command in giving instruction how to strike the gondrang (Batak Traditional Drum). While speaker of villager dominated by asking information, giving request, announcing information. The perlocutionary act is often used non-literally perlocutionary act.

Generally, the writer find out the illocutionary act in the death ceremony communication are: asking question, make a report, confirmation, request, giving clarification, expressing hope, asking and giving advices, and saying thanks. For the classification of speech act the writer found out: Assertive (23,913 %), Directive (50%), Commissive (4,347%), Declarative (2,173 %), Expression (19,565 %) And for the perlocutionary act, the utterances may have effect and may have no effect. So, sometimes the utterances have response or reaction and sometimes have no response or reaction.

5.2 Suggestion

Considering the fact that knowledge of the writer are still limited. Thanks for reader that use their sumptuous time to find something from this research. The writer would like to give suggestion to the future researchers who will use speech act in their study. To investigate speech act the researchers can find in the different data such as the communication in wedding ceremony of Simalungunese. And also the researcher can use the other theory to analyze the data. In this study the writer use theory based on John R Searle and Austin’s theory.

To the Simalungun society of any of them read this research, the writer hopes the simalungun society always hold or keep the norms and rules of speaking not just in the death ceremony “sayur matua”, but also its can found in their daily conversation or all aspects their life. And to introduce this custom to their children as soon as in order this custom does not lose.

And the last for all of us, it is important to know and the study of speech acts of one culture, community, and the nation to avoid carelessness the misunderstanding, dissolution or war, but by knowing and understand the norms and the rules that found in one culture, community, or nation, it can creates or builds the peace, prosperity, harmonist, and respectly between human beings.
